

RMR Financial Advisors, LLC has modified their company name to RMR Wealth Advisors, LLC. In a statement, RMR stated:

While the term “financial advisors” is still relevant to the services we offer, we feel this change brings us more in line with the overall assistance and support we provide. Whether our clients are accumulating wealth for retirement, just starting retirement, or have been utilizing retirement savings for years, it is that wealth which they have accumulated and have partnered with us to manage that we have now incorporated into our name. What has not changed? We did not change ownership, get acquired, alter our business relationships or change our focus in serving our clients. Our purpose as a team of individuals who provide planning, portfolio management and service that is exceptional through focus, integrity and hard work remains unchanged.
